

European Storm Claims At Least 446 Lives Six Americans Among 314 To Drown In Towns Along Coast

10 Superforts Bomb Front In Big Raid

Seoul (AP) — Ten American B-29 Superforts slammed 100 tons of bombs on Communist positions along the 155-mile Korean Front early today. It was the biggest battle-line smash by the great warplanes in a year.

Usually only one or two B-29s make nightly bomb runs across Red front-line positions. The big planes from bases in Japan and Okinawa are mainly used for pounding strategic targets deep in North Korea.

The Air Force did not announce results of the predawn sweep. It said the crews reported their only opposition was moderate Red anti-aircraft fire.

Other Superforts last night dropped 500-pound bombs on a Red supply center south of Chinnampo, West Coast port for the North Korean capital of Pyongyang.

On the Western Front about 80 Chinese threw Allied soldiers off an outpost hill near Old Baldy Hill early today but U.N. artillery and mortar fire chopped up the attackers and the Allied troops returned to the outpost without opposition.

The engagement was the sharpest along the front where temperatures skidded below zero—as low as minus 8 in the center.

The Fifth Air Force said its Sabre jet pilots battled twice yesterday with MIG-15 fighters near the Manchurian border and crippled one.

The Navy announced yesterday its hard hitting task force built around the battleship Missouri and three aircraft carriers destroyed 45 buildings, 48 troop and supply shelters, a crane, railroad bridge and barracks at the Red port of Wonsan on the east coast.

Wonsan, the most battered city of the Korean war, was pounded by guns and planes all day Saturday.

The 2,000-pound shells from the Missouri silenced Red shore batteries, scattered troops and started many fires, the Navy said.

The Red ground probes were hurled at two Allied outposts north of Kumhwa on the central front. Both were repulsed after brief clashes.

Keating Demands Legalizing Of Wire Tapping

Washington (AP) — A determined drive to legalize wire tapping was renewed on Capitol Hill yesterday with prospects that this Congress may move in where its predecessors have shied off.

Rep. Keating (R-NY), a leader of a bipartisan campaign in the last two Congresses, took the lead again with a demand that lawmakers "unshackle" the hands of federal investigators in dealing with spies and traitors.

Keating is author of a bill to give the FBI and other federal investigative agencies authority to intercept telephone and other communications in the interest of national security, and to allow their findings to be used as court evidence.

Keating called it "foolhardy and inexcusable to give traitors, spies and saboteurs the protective privileges afforded by our present laws."

Boy, 15, Charged With Slaying

New York (AP) — Police yesterday named a teen-age boy as the bludgeon-slayer of 15-year-old Paul Peltz, whose battered body was found last Dec. 26 in a Bronx lot. The alleged killer was identified as Thomas Morgan, 15.

Morgan and a second youth, Milton Thorsen, 14, were charged with juvenile delinquency and will appear today in Bronx children's court. Police said Morgan admitted he lured Peltz to the vacant lot, bludgeoned him with a rifle butt, then crushed his head with a heavy rock as his victim tried to crawl away.

PRESIDENT DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER'S top advisors on cold war strategy leave the White House after attending the Chief Executive's first meeting with the National Security Council. They are (l. to r.): Gen. W. Bedell Smith, head of the Central Intelligence Agency; Allen Dulles, who will take this post when Smith becomes Undersecretary of State, and Gen. Omar Bradley, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Ike To Disclose Program For Peace And Prosperity

Washington (AP) — Republicans on Capitol Hill are hoping that President Eisenhower's State of the Union message will give the administration a fresh start after the bumps of the last two weeks.

The President goes before Congress today to unveil the new administration's program for peace in the world and sound prosperity at home. His speech will be televised nationally and broadcast around the globe at 12:30 p. m.

Republican members of Congress generally agree that if Eisenhower delivers a forceful message on a well-rounded program he can bring squabbling GOP factions together and solidify some wavering Democratic support.

Some Republican leaders think the President has been getting too much inexperienced and conflicting advice.

The result, they believe, has shown the winners of the November election with somewhat less unity and purpose than the Democrats who lost it. Democratic leaders at least have agreed to lie low for a while on public criticism, at the same time storing up ammunition for 1954 and 1956.

On the eve of Eisenhower's address, House Speaker Martin of Massachusetts commented: "I think the message will be completely satisfactory and pleasing to Congress. Right now I can't see a single area of substantial trouble." Martin was among the congressional leaders who discussed the message with the President in advance.

The President's speech will be examined and confirmation of their Christian faith was made. The President was received into membership upon Christian baptism and confession of faith and Mrs. Eisenhower upon confirmation of baptismal vows.

The Eisenhowers then became full members of the church when they received Holy Communion at the 9 a. m. service, he said.

Accompanying the Eisenhowers at the hour-long service was Milton Eisenhower, brother of the President.

The President's pew is No. 41, on the left side of the church and near the front. It is near pews previously held by Presidents Jackson, Pierce, Polk, Cleveland, Buchanan, Grant and Benjamin Harrison.

Alan Curtis Dies

New York (AP) — Alan Curtis, handsome, 43-year-old movie actor, died yesterday a week after undergoing a kidney operation.

STRIKING SWIFTLY, Congressional investigators have seized the files and records of Russell W. Duke (above) in San Francisco. Referred to as the mystery man behind numerous West Coast tax cases, Duke is an alleged influence peddler who reportedly had dealings with U.S. Senator Wayne Morse, of Oregon.

Free Chinese Troops May Battle Reds

Washington (AP) — The United States was reported yesterday to be informing friendly governments of a decision by President Eisenhower to unleash Chinese Nationalist forces on Formosa for action against Chinese Communists on the mainland.

Authoritative officials said last week that barring a change of plans the policy change would be announced in Eisenhower's State of the Union message which he will deliver personally to a joint session of the House and Senate today.

The move, mapped primarily by Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles as a step toward seizing the offensive in the global conflict with Communism and putting new pressures on the foe fighting in Korea, is designed to have the effect of opening a new "front" in the Far East.

It is the kind of move, nevertheless, which may have unpredictable international repercussions and it clearly involves the interests of America's Allies and of other friendly nations.

As responsible informants understand the move technically, what the President had planned—at least up to a day or so ago—was to cancel out former President Harry Truman's policy of neutralization of Formosa.

Two days after the Korean War broke out Truman ordered the United States' Seventh Fleet into Formosa waters, instructed to protect that Nationalist-held island against attack and at the same time to prevent Nationalist attacks on the mainland.

The importance of the Eisenhower administration's first big strategic maneuver on the Communist front lies in opening the way for Chiang Kai-shek's government to take whatever action it can against the Communists who drove it from the Chinese mainland in December, 1949.

Foreign governments were not consulted ahead of time on the move, according to the best information available here. It directly concerns only the conduct of American forces—the Seventh Fleet—and the Chinese Nationalists. But in the situation it would be in line with diplomatic usage to give friendly nations notice the change was coming.

Tug, Oil Barge Crews On Strike

New York (AP) — Tugboat and oil barge crews went on strike at 12:01 a. m. yesterday in a wage dispute that threatens to tie up a major part of the shipping—from ocean liners to garbage scows—in the world's largest and busiest port.

At the same time tugboat workers in the ports of Norfolk and Philadelphia stayed ashore.

The work stoppage, following collapse of bargaining conferences, involves 3,500 men and 450 craft in New York harbor. Eighty tug and barges are tied up in Philadelphia, 28 in Norfolk.

14 Cars Derailed

Salamanca, N. Y. (AP) — Fourteen cars of a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train were derailed at nearby Red House yesterday, blocking the single track line. No injuries were reported.

Losses Announced

Toyko (AP) — The Navy and Marine Corps lost 1,033 planes in the first 30 months of the Korean War while spending more bombs, rockets and bullets than Navy Air expended in World War II.

Russia Has 4,500 Planes In Far East

Toyko (AP) — Gen. O. P. Weyland said last night that the Russians have 4,500 war planes based in the Far East "over and above the strength of the Communist air forces in Manchuria and Red China."

The estimate by the commanding general of the U. S. Far East Air Force was about five times greater than previous authoritative estimates of 100 to 1,000.

In addition, the Chinese Reds have about 2,500 combat planes, almost exclusively supplied by Russia.

Weyland conceded American plans in the Far East area are "greatly outnumbered" but said they could make an air intruder "pay heavily" and could be speedily reinforced.

Half Of Gem Loot Found In Locker

New York (AP) — Half of $100,000 worth of jewelry stolen from a subway locker Saturday was found yesterday in a bus terminal locker—the key for which was left in a police call box.

Police theorized that the thief, who jimmied several subway lockers before finding the gems, got frightened by publicity of the theft and decided to give up half the loot.

A patrolman about to call his station early yesterday from a call box within a block of the 42nd Street subway station where the jewelry was stolen, noticed the key and turned it over to detectives. They traced it by markings to a bank of public lockers in the Port Authority bus terminal.

Inside a locker were two manila envelopes containing jewelry. Later Dante Brigliante, jewelry dealer, identified the gems as some of those stolen from him after he had put them in the subway locker.

Dulles Invites France To Stop Stalling On Unity

Paris (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles arrived in Paris yesterday and told the French people he came here "to listen and to learn." But he left no doubt in anyone's mind about what he wanted to hear most—that France will stop stalling on getting European unity working.

He reminded the French that their leaders had inspired the two great European unity plans—the Schuman Plan for the European coal and steel community and the Pleven Plan for a European defense community.

"Such creative thinking and planning has caught the imagination of the American people and we want to know more about your purposes and plans for the future so that we can take them into account in our own planning," he said in a broadcast just after arrival.

Cherbourg, France (AP) — The trans-Atlantic liner Queen Mary left here last night for New York after having been delayed 24 hours because of storms.

Temperature Slips Toward Zero Reading

A frigid blast brought the mercury zooming down near zero in Monroe County early today.

Official readings showed the temperature at 14 degrees above zero at 10:30 p. m. in the twin boroughs. At midnight it had fallen to nine above.

At Mount Pocono the thermometer read 10.5 degrees above at 10:30.

Broadsheadsville had a 12 degree reading. So did the Milford State police sub-station in Pike County.

Officials forecast calls for fair weather today. The temperature is not expected to go above 20 degrees.

Monroe County's newest cold wave was a part of a frosty cold wave that spread across most of the nation.

In the Midwest winter was at its coldest so far. International Falls, Minn. was the nation's cold spot. The mercury there hit a bone-rattling minus 33.

Chicago temperatures were one above zero with indications they would go lower; Green Bay, Wisc. registered a minus 9 degrees and Milwaukee had a five-below reading.

The goose flesh weather extended south along the Mississippi into Tennessee, while farther south in the Gulf States there was considerable rain.

East Coast temperatures stayed slightly above normal for the season during the day yesterday, then began dropping with unusual speed last night.

Talbott Faces Questioning

Washington (AP) — Harold E. Talbott, 65-year-old automobile and aviation executive, faces another round of questioning today before the Senate votes on his nomination to be secretary of the Air Force.

Although he won a 14 to 1 vote of approval from the armed services committee last Thursday, Talbott was asked to appear at another public hearing at 10:30 a. m.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), the only lawmaker to oppose Talbott so far, wants to ask him about two critical congressional reports.

One questioned recent price and trade practices of the automobile industry in charging the government millions of dollars for automobile parts. Involved are two corporations in which Talbott was an executive and stockholder.

The other report dates back to the first World War, when the late Charles Evans Hughes investigated the aircraft production record of a company in which Talbott was interested.

U.S. ARMY CAPT. Melvin Garten, of Brooklyn, N.Y., has been recommended for the Congressional Medal of Honor. Garten led a final smash by only eight men through body-filled trenches that drove off the enemy though he had been ordered not to enter the fight for a strategic hill in Korea. He is now executive officer of the 1st Battalion, 31st Regiment, 7th U.S. Infantry Division.

Toll May Rise Still Higher In Three Countries

London (AP) — Tidal seas—churned by hurricane winds—flooded thousands of coastal towns and drowned at least 314 persons in England, Holland and Belgium. Fears grew today that the toll in the three nations might go far higher. The death of 132 persons on the British car ferry Princess Victoria in a hurricane in the Irish Sea Saturday boosted the toll to 446 in two days.

At least six Americans were known to have perished in one English community and others were feared lost.

Winds were abating but thousands of relief workers—including many American airmen—worked through the night in near freezing waters to evacuate survivors in flooded English coastal areas. It was estimated that 25,000 persons would have to be moved from their homes.

This was the toll of known dead so far:

Britain: 161.
The Netherlands: 138.
Belgium: 15.

Holland's historic dikes burst in a score of places yesterday under the buffeting of wind-whipped waves and spilled floodwaters over a sixth of the tiny nation. An area inhabited by approximately a million persons was flooded.

Belgian authorities counted at least 15 dead last night along the storm-lashed coast in the vicinity of Ostend. Officials feared daybreak would uncover many more casualties.

Most of the Belgian dead were trapped in their homes as flood waters rushed through gaps which waves tore in the coastal dike system.

Towering waves smashed down houses, wrecked ships at sea and in harbor, and flooded thousands of acres of rich farmland. The property damage is colossal.

A trawler with 15 men vanished off the Hebrides. The 2,700-ton French ship Carthage radioed an SOS last night from off the Dutch coast.

At least seven other ships were in distress in the boiling North Sea.

The sea, ancient enemy of the Dutch, came flooding over dikes before dawn claiming again the low level countryside. The swirling waters rushed through at least 50 cities, towns and villages which broadcast pleas for emergency assistance. Many others had not been heard from.

The worst was in Zeeland and Brabant, in Southwest Holland, but the angry North Sea came pounding, too, over dunes and dikes protecting the West Frisian Islands and the area to the north of Amsterdam.

The brown level flood spread south of the Schelde to Flanders and Antwerp in Belgium and washed onto second story windows of Ostende's seafont.

Four million people were in the flooded areas of Holland and Belgium.

In both countries states of emergency were declared and men in the armed services were recalled from leave to aid in rescue work.

Red Cross workers at Jaywick on England's flooded southeast reported seeing exhausted people fall off their rooftops before rescue could reach them.

In England some American Air Force men and members of their families were feared lost in tidal floods that overwhelmed Hunstanton on Norfolk's coast. Many Air Force men from nearby Sculthorpe airbase live there. Scores of GI's set out in fragile rafts and inflated boats and rescued hundreds of villagers marooned in their houses by a flood that rose from doorstep to ceiling level in 30 minutes.

The high spring tide, coming with a full moon, followed the "Atlantic drift" tidal route which bends over the top of the British Isles and sweeps southward in the North Sea to the jutting Norfolk coast of England and the low countries. The tides came along with winds of gale force.

Hundreds of tons of churning water crashed over Canvey Island in the Thames estuary off the Essex coast of England. Thirteen thousand residents of the island were being evacuated, and as dusk fell few were left on its shores. Canvey's death toll was believed high. Large numbers of its populace lived in flimsy homes along the sea front. Hundreds of these homes were smashed into splinters.

Voting Bill Endorsed

Harrisburg (AP) — The American Veterans of World War Two of Pennsylvania yesterday voted to support passage of a law lowering the legal voting age to 18.

Little Hope Held For 132 Lost At Sea

Donaghadee, Northern Ireland, (AP) — Coast Guardsmen abandoned hope yesterday of finding any more survivors from the sea-going ferry Princess Victoria.

Crippled by hurricane—lashed waves, the 2,694-ton ship rolled over and sank Saturday about five miles off this little Irish port with a loss of 132 lives.

An official of the nationalized British Railways, which operated the Princess Victoria, said there were no women and children among the survivors. The first lifeboat to leave the ship carried 30 women and children, but it capsized.

The 44 dead survivors praised Capt. James Ferguson, who fought the cruel seas to the last trying to save his passengers. Still clinging to the bridge he saluted the instant before his stricken vessel died and was not seen again.

The Princess Victoria was making a 36-mile run from Stranraer, Scotland, to Larne, Northern Ireland, when disaster overtook her in the northern neck of the Irish Sea. One giant wave, that struck her broadside, poured hundreds of tons of water into her hold. A rescued seaman said:

Union Council Convenes Today

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP) — The executive council of the American Federation of Labor meets here today to reach decisions on problems ranging from Taft-Hartley law revision to waterfront labor scandals.

The group's job will be to frame policy for the eight million-member AFL under the first Republican administration since 1932.

For George Meany, elected AFL president by a unanimous council vote last November, the 10-day session will be the first under his direction.

Burglars Break Into 8 Business Places In East Stroudsburg

Thieves Take $72 In Loot, Cause Damage

Thieves broke into six East Stroudsburg business houses early yesterday taking $72 in loot and causing an estimated $85 in property damages.

Borough Police Chief Arthur Swink said the burglaries apparently occurred between 5:20 and 6:20 a.m.

Chief Swink said the following places were burglarized:

Herman Sher's gas station at 150 Brown St. where the thieves smashed a window in the front door, let themselves in, found nothing inside and let themselves out again. Property damage was estimated at $5.

Lindy's Lunch, 110 Brown St. where a front window was broken causing an estimated $5 damage. The thieves escaped with two dollars in pennies, leaving a juke box and cigaret machine untouched.

Plaza Theater, at 203 S. Courtland St. After smashing a window out of the ticket office, the thieves ransacked the box-office cubicle, found nothing in the till and left without breaking into the popcorn machine or candy machine in the lobby. Also left unmolested was the theater manager's office upstairs.

An estimated $25 damage was caused to the Plaza ticket office, according to Chief Swink.

Caramella's Newsstand at 135 Crystal St. where a small window in the front door was smashed in to gain entry causing "about $15 property damage."

Loot taken from Caramella's included: $10 in quarters; $3 in pennies; $5 in nickels and dimes and "a couple of one dollar bills."

Cineotta's Market, 97 Crystal St. Here the thieves jimmied a front door lock, tried to jimmy the cash register and failed. Net result: $15 damages to register and front door. George Rusk pool room at 103 Crystal St. where the thieves made their biggest haul—$50 in money—and caused $20 in damage to the front door by smashing the glass.

Included in the $50 theft was a total of $30 in bills; $20 in change, Chief Swink indicated.

Approximate time of the burglaries was fixed through a process of elimination.

East Stroudsburg borough patrolmen Donald Quick and Louis Caramella were on duty together until 5 a.m. The two policemen stopped for a routine check of Lindy's and the Sher gas station at 4:20 a.m. Everything was in order.

At 5 a.m. Quick went off duty. Caramella, on duty alone until 8 a.m., checked the borough business establishments again at 5:20 a.m.; found nothing out of the ordinary, Swink said.

At 6:20 a.m. Jack Helms, a borough resident on his way to work noticed the smashed window in the newsstand.

Helms immediately notified Patrolman Caramella on the street near the police station.

Caramella made a preliminary investigation of the robberies and reported to Chief Swink.

A full-scale investigation into the burglaries was underway last night, Swink said. State police from the Stroudsburg sub-station cooperated with the borough investigation, according to Swink.

NEWS that Charles T. Walker Sr. (right) has been awarded a Carnegie Hero Medal posthumously reaches his family, who gather sadly about his picture in their Pittsburgh home. Walker gave his life rescuing his aged grandmother from a fire last Memorial Day. In the group are the widow and her children; Sammy, 8; Buddy, 10; Barbara, 15; Donna, 13, and Chuckie, 12. Walker was one of three Pennsylvania residents to win the award. A $960-a-year pension goes to the hero's family.

Movie Studio Converting To Photo System That Creates Third-Dimension Illusion

Hollywood, (AP) — Twentieth Century-Fox is converting immediately to a new photographic and sound system that creates a third-dimension illusion and indicates changes in the movie industry as revolutionary as the advent of sound.

The device, called Cinemascope, permits filming in color and projection on a screen two and one-half times the ordinary size "so as to give almost life-like animation to the players," the announcement said.

Jelke Trial Opens Today In New York

New York (AP) — Minot F. Jelke III, major figure in New York City's cafe society vice probe, goes on trial today on charges he forced three young women into prostitution and lived off the earnings of one while waiting for a marriage inheritance to come due.

The sensational vice investigation, first disclosed last August when police announced rousing Jelke and a pretty blonde companion out of bed, culminates in General Sessions Court before a special jury. The tribunal's first business will be the selection of this "blue ribbon" panel.

Jelke's case, involving some reportedly $500-a-night call girls, has given indications of providing the most lurid court testimony since Charles (Lucky) Luciano's conviction on white slave charges in the 1930s.

A bevy of blonde, brunette and red-haired young women—describing themselves as models and held as material witnesses in the inquiry—are expected to give the trial a trimming of feminine beauty that graces few legal cases.

The socially-registered Jelke was indicted on nine counts of procuring, compulsory prostitution and living off the proceeds of prostitution. He has pleaded innocent to all the counts.

He is specifically charged with inducing Patricia Ward, 19, to "live a life of prostitution" from September, 1951, to March, 1952. He also is charged with living "wholly or in part" on her earnings during this period.

Other counts accuse him of forcing Patricia Thompson, 23, a model and Marguerita Cordova, 23, a hat check girl, to engage in prostitution. All three women are material witnesses.

New York newspapers have said Miss Ward broke the vice case after Jelke jilted her.

Governor Talks With Eisenhower

Washington, (AP) — Gov. John S. Fine says his first White House talk with President Eisenhower concerned "a number of things of mutual interest."

The Pennsylvania governor paid his first call on the new President Saturday and told reporters later that the question of patronage—federal appointments for Pennsylvanians—was not discussed.

Fine added that he was in town on state matters, but declined to say what they were.

Donations, Dance Swell Polio Fund

Women will start collecting 500 polio coin boxes from county stores, restaurants, hotels today.

Another phase of the campaign will end with counting of funds collected by high schools girls in the county's three theaters the past week.

Last night, without these contributions, March of Dimes campaign Chairman Joseph H. Small said there was a possibility the county would top last year's total contributions.

The coin box collecting chore will be done by local members American Association of University Women. They placed the boxes at start of the campaign.

A $227 contribution went to the polio fund from the Elks Club, East Stroudsburg, following a benefit dance there Saturday night. An additional $50 from the club treasury brought Elks contributions this year to $277.

Forty dollars of this money went into the pot when the four-man square dance band put its night's pay toward the polio fund. In the band were Arch Possinger, caller; Samuel Budge, Carl Gottler and Mrs. Orin Reish, all of Stroudsburg.

Sale of 12 cakes accounted for another $78 of the total.

Foundation and campaign officials said last night it would be "toward the end of the week" before they know just how well the campaign has fared this year.

They urged a clean-up on the coin cards—some of which are still coming in.

"We need every penny," Small said. "If you have a coin card in the house which you've forgotten to send in—please do it this week."

Fritz Kuhn Dead, Says Former Aide

Munich, Germany (AP) — Fritz Kuhn, once the arrogant, noisy leader of the pro-Nazi German American Bund, died here more than a year ago—a poor and obscure chemist, unheralded and unsung.

His former lawyer, Otto Gritschneider, disclosed Kuhn's death yesterday in answer to inquiries. It had not been reported in the press. Gritschneider said Kuhn died Dec. 14, 1951 at the age of 55. He did not know the cause.

Kuhn's last surroundings were far different from his days of pompous strutting in the United States in the 1930s when Hitler's power was growing.

Then, dressed in a blue-gray Storm Trooper's uniform, he thundered praise of Der Fuehrer at rousing Bund rallies in New York's Madison Square Garden and recruited Nazi sympathizers at Bund camps.

Earthquake Waves Travel Eight Times Around Earth

New York, (AP) — Columbia University announced yesterday a new seismograph has detected earthquake waves that traveled eight times around the earth, giving everyone a little roller-coaster ride each time.

The waves came from the great quake at Kamchatka, Russian peninsula northeast of Japan, last Nov. 4.

They rippled the earth's crust repeatedly as they raced around the globe. At Palisades, N. Y., where the seismograph is situated, the longest wave made the earth move a distance equal to the thickness of a half dollar.

Detection of eight round trips of these earthquake surface waves is a new record. The best heretofore has been three circuits.

Study of the way these waves behaved gives new evidence that the earth has a molten core, not a solid one, said Prof. W. Maurice Ewing, director of Columbia's Lamont Geological Observatory at Palisades, and Prof. Frank Press, observatory seismologist.

The quake, one of the severest ever recorded, happened 5,260 miles from Palisades. But the first shock wave was recorded on the instrument only 12 minutes later.

Penn State Adds Business School

State College, (AP) — The department of economics and commerce of the Pennsylvania State College, reorganized as the school of business will become the college's 10th undergraduate school on July 1.

The change, announced yesterday, was explained by President Milton S. Eisenhower as primarily in administrative organization.

The department had more than 1,200 students enrolled last semester. The new school, with a four-year program in business administration, will qualify graduates for a bachelor of science degree.

Two Suffer Cuts As Car Strikes Tree

Two men were injured when their car hit a guard rail, then a tree off Route 209, at Dead Man's Curve, west of Stroudsburg, about 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

The driver, Ralph H. Gouger, 22, a Kunkletown RD1 soldier, was treated at General Hospital, East Stroudsburg, along with his companion, a sailor, Allen George, 26, Kunkletown RD1. Both men suffered severe cuts and bruises, according to Stroudsburg State police.

About $600 damage was done to the small metal station wagon. Police said the vehicle was moving toward Stroudsburg. Gouger said that on Dead Man's Curve an approaching car "forced me off the road."

The station wagon hit the guard rail at the top of the steep embankment at right of the road, went on down the highway, then veered off to left of the road, climbed a grade to a field and struck a tree.

Crash Wipes Out Family Of Four

Erie, (AP) — A Nickel Plate Railroad freight train crashed broadside into an auto Saturday night at a crossing in East Springfield Borough, 20 miles east of Erie, killing all four members of a family.

The victims were George Travis, 42, owner of the Travis Cement Block Co. in West Springfield; his wife, Marjorie, 37; a son, Thomas, 12, and daughter, Carol Ann, 5.

Train Fireman Everett Mills reported the auto approached the crossing slowly, as if about to stop, then sped up as the train neared.

"I shouted and waved to the engineer," said Mills. "He put on the brakes but it was too late for us to avoid hitting the car."

An Army announcement said Simpson had confessed in writing to having shot the sergeant as the car proceeded down a West Berlin street, and to stealing $1,550 in military payment certificates from him.

Name of the slain sergeant was withheld pending notification of kin.

Rampageous Tax Cutter

Our national debt is brushing $268 billions, and headed for the wild blue yonder.

The budget which former President Truman submitted to Congress for the next fiscal year (July 1, 1953, to June 30, 1954) contemplates a deficit of $10 billions.

Income for this fiscal year ending June 30 will be nearly $6 billions short of the expected spending.

The nation has a new administration, not yet in office long enough to find its path through the maze left behind by the Truman administration.

New military and foreign-aid programs await the molding of specific policies by the new President and his advisers.

The country's immediate course is subject to the perilous uncertainties of the hot war in Korea and the cold war everywhere.

No man can forecast, with safety, what crises, what predicaments, what problems, are in the offing.

Yet, in the face of these glowering facts, Rep. Daniel A. Reed of Dunkirk, N. Y., feeling his oats as the new chairman of the House Ways & Means Committee, is dead set for a tax cut—this year.

He predicts his committee will roll out a tax-cut bill (his own) by mid-February and that the House will whoop it through "right away."

Speaker Joseph W. Martin and other responsible Republicans have blown the whistle on Mr. Reed, but the man from Dunkirk says his bill is so popular the House leaders "will have to get out of its way and let it pass or take the consequences."

However, the public can add, too, and while tax reduction is tempting and ultimately desirable, deficits and debt do not in the long run loosen the pinch on the taxpayer's pocket. It will not be the House leaders, standing in the way of a rash tax cut, who eventually will "take the consequences," but the tax paying public.

Mr. Reed, to support his feverish proposal, argues that the Republicans, in the 1952 campaign, promised to "reduce expenditures, balance the budget and provide tax relief."

But in that order—not in reverse.

The Dimes March

In an age of cold war and hydrogen bombs it is easy to forget, but thrilling to be reminded, that mankind is building not only tools of doom but instruments of hope.

Such a reminder came last week when it was revealed that a group of researchers are preparing to launch a major attack on a terrible, ancient foe: Polio.

Only the future will tell whether the work done at the University of Pittsburgh Medical School has produced the ultimate weapon to eliminate polio. Only the future can tell whether this, finally, is the real thing or just one more key which eventually will unlock the real answer.

But one thing this news speaks clearly and ringingly is that the millions of dimes which have been marshalled through the years to fight this foe have not been dissipated nor standing idle.

The March of Dimes is, truly a march, silent and steady, toward that shining day when polio will be disarmed.

The Once Over —by H. I. Phillips

TV or Not TV?

Whether states should operate TV stations is an issue in many parts of the country, with the problem especially hot in New York. They would be educational, supplementing the work of the public schools. With the regular commercial TV stations making general ignorance one of their top program features, it might not be a bad idea for states to step in and plug for intelligence on the airwaves. Nobody who has watched countless Americans on TV quiz programs make their abysmal ignorance a matter of public record can doubt a crying need for something to supplement the work of our schools. If a lot of people who have presumably been to school don't need educating, we have been looking at the wrong TV programs.

Every hour of the day and night men and women not only openly display their ignorance but seek prizes for it. Dumbness is being made a coast-to-coast feature. It would seem only fair for the states to step into and do all they can to kill the impression most Americans quit school in kindergarten. There have always been illiterate men and women, but never before have they fought to get on video shows and advertise the fact. We can't help wondering what the small fry think of when they tune in and hear grown-ups answering, "Was it Grant?" to the question, "What general saved the day at Waterloo?"

Something's wrong when there is a daily airwave parade of folks who don't know what President had a wife whose first name was Martha, who said, "Don't give up the ship," and whether a codfish is a fish, a flower, a musical instrument or a part of a will. But a video system would be up against audience resistance in an age when few men, women or children want to answer any questions which don't involve a $2,500 jackpot and a trip to Sun Valley. The states had better offer prizes. Will mother listen to a program which promises her nothing but knowledge? Will father go for a state video show which at no time bawls, "You now have $678. Do you want to stop or go for the jackpot?" Can we expect Sister Susie to listen to a few hints on her grammar when the living-room screen is full of glamor personalities sounding off on the right per-fumes?

Bring on state video, say we. Even if you have to have some cowboys on the teaching staff and work in the DiMarco Sisters.

Expert Believes Fireballs May Be Red Guided Missiles

Robert S. Allen Reports - - - By Robert S. Allen

Washington — Those mysterious green fireballs that have been sighted in widely separated parts of the world may be phenomenal guided missiles the Russians have developed and are testing.

That is the belief of the leading U.S. authority on fireballs.

He is Dr. Lincoln La Paz, head of the Institute of Meteoritics of the University of New Mexico and a former Technical Director of the Air Force.

"Let's not kid ourselves," warns Dr. La Paz. "The green fireballs that have been reported in the Baltic, over northern Japan and in our own Southwest should not be laughed off as ordinary meteoric fireballs. We must logically assume that if these are guided missiles, some of them may have the hammer and sickle stamped on them."

Dr. La Paz's conviction that the fireballs may be a secret Soviet weapon dates back to 1946, when the Reds took over the Nazi rocket base on the Baltic.

Soon thereafter strange fireballs were reported in that area.

Since then, there have been many sightings in that region. Several years ago an American reconnaissance plane vanished thereabouts, and last year the Russians admitted shooting down a Swedish military plane flying in the sector.

Dr. La Paz also views as highly significant the repeated appearance of green fireballs in two other "sensitive" areas.

They are northern Japan, which is close to Russian territory where the Reds are known to have highly secret experimental installations, and the southwestern part of the United States where key atomic plants are located.

"It is not beyond the realm of possibility," declares Dr. La Paz, "that the Russians may be scouting the U.S. and other parts of the world, with a guided missile that they have developed. It is more than passing strange that of the many green fireballs reported in the last few years, particularly in the Southwest, have never been able to find the slightest trace of the remains of one. We have made exhaustive and thorough searches, but always without success."

Note: Former President Truman's statement voicing doubt about the Russians having the A-bomb so infuriated Senator Bourke Hickenlooper (R., Ia.), slated to be chairman of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, that he told colleagues, "If that man makes one more crack like that, I will personally see to it that appropriate measures are taken to hold him accountable for his remarks. I have a good mind to summon him before the Committee for questioning."

Sensational Surprise—President Eisenhower will appoint a Negro as one of the Commissioners who govern the District of Columbia.

He will do that after Congress enlarges the body from three to five members.

The President will make this spectacular appointment in fulfillment of a campaign pledge that he repeated on a number of occasions. One instance was on October 24 when he told a throng at Wheeling, W. Va., "Segregation in the nation's capital must be abolished."

The President disclosed his plan to the two "mayors" of Washington.

They are Senator Francis Case (R., S.D.) and Representative Sid Simpson (R., Ill.), who are chairmen of the District of Columbia Committees of the Senate and House. These Committees handle the municipal affairs of the Capital, which now has a population of more than 800,000, with another 800,000 in the immediate metropolitan area.

During their conference with the President, Case and Simpson explained he could not end segregation in Washington's public schools by an executive order.

This was a surprise to the President.

"It was my understanding," he said, "that wherever federal funds are used, as in the case of Washington schools, the government has authority to step in and abolish segregation."

"That is not so in this instance," declared Simpson. "It doesn't work that way in the Capital."

"In any event, whatever I do," the President said, "I have no intention of encroaching on the prerogatives of Congress. My campaign pledge to end segregation in Washington did not contemplate assuming any of the functions of Congress."

Case advised the President to await the Supreme Court's decision on the school segregation issue. Several such cases are pending before the tribunal.

The two legislators promised to introduce a bill increasing the number of District Commissioners from three to five. This has been urged for a number of years as one of the measures needed to improve the local government—which is one of the most antiquated in the country.

Taking Over—The Chiang Kai-Shek are settling in the U.S. in a big way.

In addition to Madame Chiang who arrived last summer, the two sons of the Nationalist leader are taking up residence here.

Both are Major Generals in their father's Army. The elder son spent 11 years in Moscow and is head of the Nationalist secret police. He will be a military delegate to the United Nations. The younger son will study at the Army War College.

Madame Chiang is not the mother of either of the men. The older is the son of Chiang's first wife, and the younger the son of another wife.

Not a day goes by when we don't hear of the "Reds" in the U.S. and how they are "taking over" the country. It is a curious thing that the "Reds" are always "taking over" the country, but never seem to be "taken over" by the "Reds" themselves.

Heeding Britain's Plea To Close Dollar Gap Would Lead United States Into Booby-Trap

These Days - - - - - By George Sokolsky

Tariff Troubles

When foreign nations, particularly Great Britain, design to achieve an alteration in American policy, they often soften up American public opinion, with an emotional, even a tear-jerking slogan. The result is that our emotions, so close to the surface usually, are stirred actively if not deeply, and we give the blighters a billion or two, just to show that we are good-natured.

There are many ways of giving subsidies to foreign countries and one of them is to lower the tariff sufficiently to make our markets more favorable to foreign than to American goods. The lowering of the tariff could, under certain conditions, be as good as a direct credit gift. Therefore, on this subject, we need to be cautious.

The Europeans wish the United States to lower the tariff with a view to closing the dollar gap. But these European countries have been waging a battle against American manufactures since history began on this continent. It was one of the causes of the American Revolution, probably the principal cause. Therefore, we need to get away from the high propagandistic phrase, "dollar gap," and discuss tariffs. The British objected to them in the Administration of William McKinley as they do in the Administration of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

A very small part of our imports, not more than 22 per cent, are dutiable goods of special interest to Europeans. More than half of the imports that enter this country are free of duty.

In 1949—the last full statistical year—our imports from the Sterling Area amounted to $2,911,000,000; our exports to this same area amounted to $3,167,000,000, leaving a "dollar gap" of $256,000,000. Under the neo-mercantilism which the British now say that they wish to practice, that $256,000,000 should be equated in some manner, so that either it is wiped out or turned against us. Certainly, the elimination of this $256,000,000 unfavorable balance will not solve Great Britain's problems.

Winston Churchill, the most glorious phrase-maker of the age, has hoisted this one: "Trade Not Aid." It is a beauty, but altogether without the slightest relationship to reality. As long as the British keep their American purchases down, by their own neo-mercantilism, they cannot expect us to whomp up our purchases from them. Actually, we are constantly increasing our purchases abroad, particularly from NATO countries.

What some Europeans would really prefer is that the United States should permit increases from "behind the Iron Curtain," thus creating American dollar reserves which the satellites could use for purchases in Great Britain, France, Holland, etc.

Let me indicate such a three-way exchange: The United States would import cheap, substandard shoes from Czechoslovakia, thus establishing American dollar reserves for Czechoslovakia; the Czechs could then go to London to buy machine tools, using the American dollar reserves for the purpose. Thus, three wonderful objectives would be accomplished: 1. The Czechs would be able to dump cheap, substandard, slave-made shoes in the United States; 2. The British would be able to sell machine tools to the Russians via Czechoslovakia; 3. The British dollar gap would have some more dollars.

What does the United States get out of all this? Don't be silly! Trade not aid!

Another gimmick that is being proposed is called "convertibility." Since time immemorial, one kind of money has been convertible into another by an exchange rate. Actually today, while you read this, anyone in the world who has an American dollar can convert it into sterling. The vice-versa is not so. Sterling is blocked by the British government. To convert sterling into dollars is forbidden except by permit.

Thus, under-the-table conversions are in existence, as a result of exchange restrictions and money controls. The British block sterling and ration dollars and produce shortages. British sterling is regarded by many experts as too high in relationship to the dollar and artificially kept so. What they would like the United States to do is to devalue the American dollar to bring it in line with the British pound. This they call "convertibility."

Actually, this would produce inflation in the United States. It would reduce the American dollar, like the pound sterling, to fiat money. Today, the American dollar can buy goods or gold in the international market; British sterling cannot. They would like to bring the dollar down to the value of the pound. It is a dangerous business—for the United States.

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

If you are interested in buying from one to twelve eight-foot marble statues for your back yard or to put on the roof of your home, please apply to the Department of Public Works City of New York.

The statues have been standing on top of the Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court for 53 years, but apparently they have gotten tired of their long vigil over the rights of man.

They have become dangerously wobbly and, at any moment, "PEACE" or "JUSTICE" are liable to fall right on an innocent by-asser's head.

I don't know how these various statues came to be selected for the Appellate Division.

The building was designed by a famous architect of the late 90's, James Brown Lord, and, as most public buildings were in those days, is full of gingerbread and curlicues.

It is full of all sorts of other statues, bas-reliefs, carved decorations, Corinthian and Ionic columns, Caryatids. Its walls are lined with Sienna marble.

The twelve statues, in addition to "Peace" and "Justice" are those of Mahomet, founder of Mohammedanism; Zoroaster, founder of the ancient Persian religion; Alfred the Great, British ruler; Lycurgus, Spartan lawgiver; Solon, Athenian lawgiver; Louis IX, French monarch; Manu of Hindu law; Justinian, Byzantine emperor; Confucius, author of "Confucius Say" and everyman's philosopher; and Moses, of the well known "Ten Commandments" the breakers of which have so often been on trial in the court building below.

I wonder why it is that on, and in, so many public buildings there are always statues of people who have been dead these hundreds and thousands of years.

Could it be that we have no confidence in our modern philosophers, lawgivers and celebrities in general? Can it be that we are so unsure of our own era that only the long-dead-and-gone may stand as symbols of—well, of something?

I would like to see our country a bit surer of itself, of its accomplishments, its deeds, its progress.

Take the case of Zoroaster, represented by one of the 12 statues. In the first place nobody knows what Zoroaster looked like. The date of his birth is believed to have been all the way from 5000 years before the Trojan wars to 600 B. C.

He was the founder of a religion which was a mixture of the Persian, the old Mosaic and many other faiths.

His philosophy was fine, but certainly no better than what hundreds of others have taught and preached since then.

And, by the way, preaching and teaching a philosophy or faith or religion—whatever you may call it—is one thing, living up to it is another.

Here are a few of Zoroaster's ideas. See whether your own person has not just as good ones:

"I forswear henceforth all robbing and stealing of cattle, and the plundering and destruction of villages. I promise householders that they may roam at will and abide unmolested, wherever dwelling. I profess good thoughts, good words, good deeds. To speak the truth and act honestly are fundamental: to be kind and generous the highest duty."

With thoughts like these, no wonder Zoroaster is wobbling when he hears what's going on downstairs in the Court building and in the rest of the world.

Bougainvillea: the climbing shrub of the four o'clock family, is a native of tropical South America. It was named for De Bougainville, a French navigator.

CUTIES —By E. Simms Campbell

"George always admired my soft, smooth hands. So for his sake I'm going to keep them that way!"

My New York —By Mel Heimer

New York—A couple of months back, I was wondering out loud why it was that New Yorkers, the suave and most bored of souls, reacted like frightened cattle when confronted with crises such as subway trains stalling in tunnels. I discussed how they yell and howl and carry on in general—but there has come from a gentleman reader named de Tempo a mild rebuttal.

"I was amused by your commentary," Mr. de Tempo writes, "but there are exceptions."

"It was several years ago, in the Montague street tunnel, 8:37 a.m. and the train going to Wall street. It stopped midway. Five minutes. Ten minutes. Fifteen minutes. The air grew dense. A touch of smoke crept in. The smell of rags burning; everybody restless and hot, and with different analyses.

"Twenty minutes. Trainmen were along the catwalk now, bent low, trying to look nonchalant and knowing. Someone yelled 'I'm breaking this window!' Tinkle, afar; then passengers on the catwalk, mounting toward Wall street. Bad language here and there. People gave a corner seat to a woman of good periphery and red face, whose eyes were closed and who looked as if she would become a limp liability.

"But there was the Exception." A touch of nausea, probably psychological.

"I had noticed him," continues Mr. de Tempo, "hanging onto a strap not far down from me, reading a sfick, thick, black-bound book intently as we left Clark street, never diverting his eyes. A Boston lawyer, mayhap? Possibly. Parsonish panama hat, creased aft to fore, cream lozenge tweed, snowy linked shirtcuffs, a toothbrush mustache, a black knit tie seeming forever knotted. With one finger, deftly he would turn pages as he finished them.

"After the first 10 minutes of halt, I looked at him. He was unchanged as a waxwork figure. He looked neither up nor down nor sideways, in a snobbish composure that was suitable for a public library or London club.

"Through his pince-nez, he studied the text as if it dealt without senses. The smoke, the noises, the swearings, did not seem there at all. During 30 minutes he acted as if he was alone in his sitting room. During 45 minutes, ditto. He got to looking haughty, calmer and more 'dis-trait' by the minute.

"He did not even consult his watch, a nice gold one. He was not only a man of distinction; he was a man of ice. I could only imagine that he was a vice president of the IRT, displaying complete assurance in the railway—or had studied Yogi and was practicing detachment under a unique dures."

"The train finally jolted into motion," says Mr. de Tempo, "lurched up the slope, and the doors opened at Wall street, nearly an hour late. Reluctantly and unmoved, the Exception closed the book with an irate snap and, eyes ahead, marched out and up the stairs. I couldn't find out what the book was, Peace of Mind? Dianetics? Spinoza? Aquinas? Santayana? I shall never know.

"Yet, I suppose he was a fortunate example. He would have made any undue agitation seem not only unwise but ridiculous and as inexcusable as hopsotch at a funeral.

"He stood there, not only the emblem of urbane sang-froid and decorum, but the symbol of the victory of mind over matter—and over civic carelessness. Without seeming aware of the duty, he acted as oil on the waters of public panic—and he seemed to know there was no need for alarm, although nobody could really tell how things would go.

"As I say—there are exceptions, and one recalls them."

Katharine Hepburn and Spencer Tracy co-starred in so many pictures that they understood each other thoroughly. The minister of a Northern England church demolished in World War II was determined to rebuild it bigger and better than ever. That required funds. The canny curate had an electrician wire the seats, with a master button in the pulpit. One Sunday he announced, "All of those willing to contribute a minimum of ten pounds to the building fund, arise." He pressed the button. The congregation, truly shocked, jumped to their feet. Only one man resisted—a Scot. He preferred—electrocution.

Mrs. Kraemer Honored At Bridal Shower

Two entwined hearts, reading "Bonnie and Bill" over the fireplace at the Harry Brown home, 721 Main St., were the first inkling that Mrs. William H. Kraemer had that the movie date she had planned with Miss Carolyn Brown was a bridal show in her honor.

Arranged by Miss Brown and Mrs. Richard Miller, former classmates and co-hostesses, the shower gifts had been arranged under the green and white frilled hearts.

Miniature baskets with pierced hearts in green and white carried out the color scheme and a three-tier wedding cake, topped by a dainty posy and surrounded by tiny white blossoms, was the highlight of the refreshments which followed the presentation of the shower gifts.

The cake had been baked by Mrs. Miller, decorated by Miss Brown. Heart-shaped sandwiches and salad carried out the theme.

Mrs. Kraemer is the former Miss Bronwen Arnold, daughter of Mrs. J. E. Arnold, 138 Broad St., Stroudsburg.

Guest list included: Mrs. David Toms, Mrs. Richard MacDonald, Miss Joan Sullivan, Mrs. J. E. Arnold, Mrs. Will L. Kraemer, Mrs. Carl Albertson, Miss Ann Fleming, Mrs. Harry Brown, Misses Eva and Gini Hess, Miss Suzanne Gordon.

Miss Nancy Peters, Miss Betty Ann Hartz, Mrs. Gomer Davies, Miss Joan Stoffel, Miss Joan Huffman, Miss Jane Ifft, the guest of honor, Mrs. Kraemer, co-hostesses, Miss Brown and Mrs. Miller.

Henryville Women Take Study Safari To Africa

Henryville—The Paradise Women's Society of World Service made a safari to Africa last Thursday night. Not actually, but by means of group study of the book, "African Heritage" and other articles concerning the continent primarily.

The safari carried those making the study to Nigeria and Sierra Leone, where the Evangelical United Brethren Church has established missions.

Many phases of African life were discussed including their religion, actually a superstitious fear of spiritual power which appears to them to be constantly lying in wait to harm them. It was pointed out.

It was brought out that with their mistrust of everything unknown and foreign, the people of Africa must be dealt with very diplomatically. Their physical needs must be supplied before their spiritual needs can be ministered to, it was explained.

Announcement was made that further study will be made of the missionary work in the "Dark Continent" in the course of the next few months.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Now that was proper Sunday weather — inviting enough to make everybody want to go places, brisk enough to put a glow in their cheeks and a hustle in their walk, and growing cold enough so they were glad to go home again.

A wonderful day to drive up to South Sterling to see Les Carlton, we agreed, and everybody wanted to go along, including the cat. Quite a conducted tour we had. The children took over near town, where they could point out where John or Mary or Susan lived; the middle generation calling attention to all the new houses further up in Barrett.

But it was Grandfather Price's turn when we came into his boyhood territory. Beneath that dam is where the umbrella factory used to stand; made umbrellas handles and tops, thousands and thousands of tops. On another road, there was the chocolate factory site — a big factory it used to be but only a meadow now.

And from the Pinehurst to the old school in Price township, a man once counted 82 teams of oxen bringing the bark down to the tannery. Down the Creek Road, a boy once drove a herd of cattle which stopped along the way to eat the grass growing green between the wagon ruts.

A trip like that is good for a family — adding another memory to the ones that go back through boyhood and remembered stories to the very beginning.

Especially when it's very pleasant purpose was to see Les, and the joy of finding him as full of fun as ever. No wonder that the traffic on the South Sterling Road has doubled these last few weeks. We passed Horace Heller heading back to town, and left Jack and Florence Luckey just arriving. Popular man, that Carlton!

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

I was just under the wire with my purchase of "Body Beautiful"—the Coty lotion with the beautiful body that all the girls here in Wyckoff's are talking so enthusiastically about. There was a special on this glamour-aid for the month of January, and those who are skeptical about these time-limited offers will be interested in knowing that my bottle, and the others sold Saturday, were absolutely the last to cross the counter at $1. Anne Putnam of our cosmetics department has received a letter from the manufacturer saying that hereafter the price is $2, plus tax.

Even at that price this lotion will sell, for the bottles are large, containing an entire month's supply. Rich in hormones, this pink liquid pours easily and spreads amazingly. One tablespoon full is sufficient to give yourself an all-over rub after the bath. "Body Beautiful," I'm told, is just what most of us need to prepare roughened elbows and legs for their first glimpse of summer sun. If you shipped up on this buy, you won't be penny wise. Better luck next time!

Inventory Day is something like a family reunion at Thanksgiving, bringing back many of our Christmas extras, former employees and retired veterans. That's why we're all looking forward to it so much. The store (Sears too, of course) is closed today. But tomorrow we'll be ready to greet you as usual at 9:30. . . . Next time you're in be sure to visit our domestic department and see our Miracle Fabrics table. Remember Lorette, that amazing combination of wool and nylon that is completely washable? You read about it here last spring, and saw it in our Wyckoff fashion shows. Now you can buy it by the yard for your new spring ensemble. . . . And step into our dress department to see the new fabrics and styles there. You'll like the new "stand-upish, stand-offish" neckline of 1953, as shown by one of our mannequins gowned in navy crepe, with white piping facing. You'll also love Pukataff, a new acetate fabric that, in the words of one observant teen ager, is "like taffeta with goose pimples." It is, really—but in a very glamorous way, and this particular example has a print design resembling black lace over a white undershirt. Demure as a violet, rich as an orchid, and priced deliciously in the lollipop class! . . . It was hard for Sylvia Strunk of our hosiery department to keep her feet on the ground Friday, when her daughter, Joanne, was up in the clouds en route to her first teaching job in Hammond, Indiana. You can imagine who arranged the flight—our Wyckoff Travel Bureau, and it proved safe and highly interesting. . . . Also in the clouds these days are Blanche Mackey and Betty Bartholomew, whose respective son and daughter have come off with leading roles in Stroudsburg High School's junior play, "Annie Get Your Gun." Now just when and where do we buy those tickets, Chums?

Two 600 matches in the Record Major were hit last week and both were on the same team Community Bar won three points and is now contending for the number one spot on a 619 by Al Andress and a 602 by Jack Darr, Scheller & Kitchen is still the leading team after taking three from Candyland, and A. C. Miller helped slow down Line Material on the basis of a 599 by Jake Nittel. Globe Furniture lost three points to Shoemaker's Signs, but Harry Walton kept his team going while posting a 532 for high single for the night.

Crowe's Insurance won four big points Saturday night, and sent Dainty Potato Chips home talking to themselves. The Chips were leading and they could have helped themselves to a wider margin with a win, but the home town keggers proved too tough on their own alleys after a shaky first game and from there on had things much their own way. Nittel and Darr were the only two able to go over the 600 mark, which climaxed a week of three matches over the mark for Darr and two over and a close one for Nittel.

The A' League was again blasting wood on Thursday night to the tune of six 600's and 19 200's. Square Bar and Deerhead Inn split the big match of the night and Deerhead retained first place by one point. Red Top Tavern and the Eagles were blanking their opponents with 4-0 counts. The Eagles led out with high match on a 2891, based on a 666 by Darr and a 624 by Martz. Darr had the only 600 based on three 200 games with 246-215-205, while Brodt, with a 646, Dick Andress with a 624, Frank Laise with 611, and Nittel with 609 all had two 200's. The other 600 by E. Martz was 624 and was obtained with the help of a big last game.

Twin County Distributors and Palace Diner split four points equally in the Eastburg Ladies' League as each team boasted a 500. Marie Bonser was high with a 539 and 199, while Eleanor Michael had a 565. They also split honors for the team as Twin County had high single with 743 and Palace had the wood for 2189.

Bill Hay hit his first 600 of the current season on Monday in the Church League as he posted a 652 on games of 226-227-199, missing three 200's by a lone pin. With all this help from Hay, the Presbyterians were still able to win but one lone point from St. Matthew's as they took over first place and are now two points ahead of the second place Presbyterians.

Emmaus Wins Lehigh Valley Crown

Palmertonalters In Last Minute

Slatington—Emmaus High beat off a last period rally by Palmerton here at jam-packed Smith Hall on Saturday to win the first half championship of the Lehigh Valley League, 47-46.

Emmaus defeated Whitehall earlier last week for the right to meet Palmerton for the title, as a double playoff was made necessary when all three clubs tied for the title.

The Emmaus portion of the more than 1,700 people who pushed their way into Smith Hall had cause for celebration, as it was the first championship of any kind that Emmaus has held in 31 years. Emmaus used a slow, deliberate type of game to construct a firm 27-18 advantage at halftime. However, the charges of Coach Kenny Moyer, a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, returned to the court in the second half with the fast break as its chief weapon.

Palmerton used this change in style to good advantage, outscoring the green and gold color bearers 16-11 in the third quarter and 12-9 during the last eight minutes of play.

Emmaus once held an 11-point lead, but was forced to come off the floor from a 46-45 deficit with slightly more than a minute remaining on the clock.

Deciding Shot

The money-making shot was a long two-handed set by Carl Wieder, which set the Emmaus crowd wild with joy. During the final minute of play Palmerton only had one shot at the basket, a wild three-quarter court heave by Ed Shiner that sailed over the backboard.

Rollie Houseknecht, Emmaus ace, and Dick Werkheiser, the pride of the Palmerton team, took part in an individual duel that found Houseknecht hitting for 16 points with well-timed set shots and hard play under the basket. Werkheiser, who tallied 10 of his 15 points in the second half, led the Palmerton rally that just missed fire. The Palmerton ace did the bulk of his damage with hook-shots inside the 10-second line.

Both clubs came up with 17 field goals, Emmaus trying 51 and Palmerton 56. Emmaus made 13 of 39 foul shots, while Palmerton hit from the charity line on 12 of 26 tosses.

Reds Make Kiner Offer

New York (AP)—Gabe Paul, vice president of the Cincinnati Reds, disclosed yesterday he had offered the Pittsburgh Pirates five players for Ralph Kiner, National League home run king for the past seven years.

Paul, in New York to attend the Baseball Writers Dinner tonight, said he made the offer to Branch Rickey last night and the Pirates' general manager had assured him he would give the proposition "serious consideration."

Rosa Robinson and Laura Ruffin were the big guns in a losing cause, with 16 and 11 tallies each. Doris Zerby was number two for the Warriorettes with 14 markers.

ESSTC put the game on ice in the second half by holding a 17-14 edge in the third period and a 14-12 advantage during the final quarter.

Paul estimated the five players he offered were worth in the neighborhood of $300,000. No actual cash was offered. All players currently are full-fledged members of the Reds, according to Paul.

Paul declined to identify the players, but declared they were all highly regarded and could play regularly for Pittsburgh.

A scheduled swimming meet between East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and West Chester Teachers in the Normal Hill pool on Saturday was postponed until Wednesday, March 4. The reason for postponement was given as illness of the West Chester coach.

Gretkowski Selected To Pilot Tannersville Baseball Forces

Tannersville—Mike Gretkowski, a former standout infielder in the North Atlantic League, has been officially named manager of the Tannersville club in the Pocono Mountains League, it was announced yesterday by Horace Hartshorn, secretary of the organization.

Gretkowski, a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, divided the 1946 season, the first of the NAL, between Stroudsburg and Nazareth, during which time he hit .252 and fielded for a .90 per centage.

Mike also played baseball for one season while a student at ESSTC. The newly named pilot is an infielder, usually at home at shortstop.

Gretkowski, a resident of 115 King St., will assume his new duties when the Tannersville club begins preparation for the coming campaign.

Baselice Refuses To Operate Scranton Club Next Season

New York (AP)—The Eastern Baseball League is looking for somebody to operate its Scranton, Pa., franchise, President Thomas Richardson last night.

Richardson said he had been informed by Louis Baselice, who bought the Scranton club in November, 1951, that he would not run the club this season.

The league president said Baselice had told him he was bowing out because of what he called personal attacks on his character and integrity.

Price Richardson added that Baselice has offered the franchise, including park rental, eight players and complete equipment, to any Scranton group for $7,500.

"I have every confidence that we will work this out," Richardson said, "and that Scranton will field a club in the Eastern League this year."

Rumors that the St. Louis Cardinals, who recently pulled out of Allentown in the Interstate League, might be interested in the Scranton club were denied by Bill Walsingham, vice-president of the St. Louis team.

"We have no desire to operate in the Eastern League," Walsingham said.

Seton Hall Passes Tough Court Hurdle

New York (AP)—Half a loaf is better than none in basketball, too, the undefeated Seton Hall basketball team has discovered.

Seton Hall, top-ranking team in the Associated Press poll, got Arnie Ring back from the scholastically ineligible list last week and the sophomore star played a big part in Seton Hall's 21st straight victory, an 84-76 conquest of Villanova Saturday night. The top-ranking team also had hoped to have the services of Jim Ahearn, who, though technically eligible, eluded to concentrate on his studies.

Help Enough

Ring was help enough, however, as he sank seven of 11 field goal tries and added two fouls. In addition, his rebounding and defensive play helped Seton Hall maintain its record as the only undefeated major college team.

Three of the high-ranking teams — Indiana, number two; Illinois, number six; and Oklahoma A & M, number eight—were idle Saturday night and two others had close calls.

Kansas' State, fifth-ranked, trailed Iowa State by two points at half time, but Gene Stauffer came through with six points in the final three minutes for an 81-78 victory. Stauffer had 24 points altogether, two less than Delmar Dieckes of Iowa State. Fordham, number seven, played a tight, ball-control game with Yale and won out, 48-44, as Captain Ed Parchinski made four straight foul shots at the end.

Easy

The other members of the top 10 club won with ease. Washington, number three, concluded its three-game Hawaiian trip with an 83-55 trouncing of Hawaii, while LaSalle, one notch lower, whaled Eastern Kentucky, 89-67, with Tom Gask getting 25 points and Norm Grekin 23.

Western Kentucky, number nine, redeemed the Blue Grass state's honor by trouncing Tampa, 104-56, and 10th ranked De Paul turned its traditional game with Notre Dame into an 83-56 rout. Ron Feiereisel, with 25 points, and Jim Lanjkin, with 20 and numerous rebounds, were the stars as De Paul pulled away after a 38-26 halftime lead.

Before the Seton Hall-Villanova game at Philadelphia's Palestra, Penn's Ernie Back scored 15 points in the second half to break up Penn State's zone defense and gave Penn a 60-56 victory. Beck tallied 21 points in the game.

St. Bonaventure evened an old score as they whipped Duquesne, 70-58.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Close games have become such a habit that followers of the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College cage machine are now taking sedatives to quiet nerves that have become taught as the strings on an imported violin. The Warriors did it again on Saturday night as the charges of Coach Chris Denis squeezed out a hair-raising 70-68 victory over a Paterson club that looked horrible and great by turns. The last turn, by the way, was almost enough to snatch victory away from the Warriors, although the Normal Hill inhabitants apparently had the game in the bag as late as the middle of the third round.

This edition of the ESSTC basketball troupe is one of the most unpredictable clubs this writer has ever witnessed in action, or for that matter, ever heard about. The Denismen think nothing of kicking away leads of 13 to 15 points and then coming back to win, while the crowd hangs on its seat like a seasick sailor. The Warriors blew a 13-point advantage on Saturday, then came back to win on a three-point play in the last eight seconds by Tony Black, who worked himself loose from the Paterson defender and nonchalantly dipped the ball into the cords and then just as calmly sank a foul shot for insurance.

However, even in defeat Paterson featured the best visiting player to step on the Normal Hill boards this season, in the person of Bob Matthews, who sported number 33 all over the court on Saturday. Matthews was one of those one-man gangs that you often hear about, but seldom see. He led the Paterson attack with 31 points, was the visiting club's top defensive performer and just missed leading his teammates to victory, with a brilliant second half performance that had even the home team's fans singing his praises.

Paterson played fine basketball during the late portion of the third period and the entire fourth round. However, in the first half the Paterson club was just as bad as it was good in the home stretch. ESSTC also had a terrifically tough time getting off a dime in the first two periods and as a result the initial half of Saturday's contest added up to the poorest brand of cage art we have witnessed on the Normal Hill hardwood thus far this season. The halftime tabulation had the home town crew on the long end of a 30-21 count with Paterson capable of scoring only five field goals during the first 20 minutes of action.

I firmly believe that the size of the Paterson squad took something out of the game before action even got underway. The visiting varsity squad was composed of only eight players, while the home team, ESSTC, featured 14 members, including Lyle Krall, of baseball and soccer fame, who was only recently presented with a varsity uniform. This column believes it should be mandatory for any basketball squad to have at least 10 or 12 members before a game is allowed to start. At least two complete teams on a squad adds color and insurance to a game.

Unofficial word during the game was that four of the Paterson players were unable to make the trip because of occupations that help to defray the expenses of education. It appeared as if the Paterson coach, working on the knowledge that he had only eight players and fearful of the fact that he might lose too many on personal fouls to keep an official team on the court, played it cool during the opening half. The visiting black and orange clad club did very little rebounding in the initial half and in general turned the game into one of those old-fashioned dance marathons.

However, the small, but hard driving, Paterson crew shifted into high gear in the second half and all but took home the marbles. Even while guarding against fouls during the first 20 minutes, the visiting crew lost two of its key performers on personal fouls in the final period and had only one substitute remaining on the bench as the final whistle sounded. Any basketball game is a sure-fire risk unless two complete teams are available on a squad.

Each team lost two players on fouls, Ed "Jake" Palmer and Bob Mellman getting the game for the Warriors in the second half. Andy Levensis, well known football player and entertainer, took over the score keeping duties on Saturday for Ted Murray, also well known in football and in track, who was unable to make the game. However, Murray will be back on the hook when the Denismen invade the home domain of Millersville on Wednesday. Millersville took the measure of ESSTC by a margin of four points in the first game of the present campaign.

The Warriors this year appear to be the type that inadvisably adjusts its mood and style of play to the opposition. If rival clubs play a good brand of basketball, the Denismen are as sharp as a razor, while poor foes bring out the poorest type of basketball in the Normal Hill residents.

East Stroudsburg Tutors Sink Paterson, 70-68

Black Decides Tilt In Last Eight Seconds

Tony Black connected on a three-point play with only eight seconds on the clock to give East Stroudsburg State Teachers College a 70-68 verdict over Paterson Teachers on Saturday, before the smallest crowd of the season at the Normal Hill gymnasium.

Black, all alone and unattended, scooped in a pass from Joe Maiorillo and easily slipped what proved to be the winning field goal into the cords. Black was fouled on the play and calmly added an insurance point from the free-throw line.

However, the Warriors were forced to call out all hands in the final minutes of play, after blowing a 13-point lead higher than present taxes. The court pupils of Coach Chris Denis held a 13-point advantage midway in the third round, but with only three minutes remaining on the clock, Paterson, paced by brilliant Bob Matthews, paced by brilliant Bob Matthews, had zoomed into a three-point advantage.

Both teams were slow to start, with Paterson appearing almost pathetic during the first two periods of play. The count was deadlocked at 11-all at the end of the first period, while ESSTC took command during the second round to lead 30-21 at the halfway mark.

Upper Hand

ESSTC continued to hold the upper hand in the early portion of the third period. However, Paterson, with only eight players on the squad, rallied behind Matthews and from midway in the final round until Black's payoff punch, completely outplayed the Warriors.

Matthews accounted for 31 points, on 12 goals from the floor and seven charity shots, while Paterson held a 23-19 edge in the third stanza and a 24-21 advantage during the final 10 minutes of play.

The victory was the fifth in seven outings for the Warriors.

John Sloan led the ESSTC attack for the second straight game, with a total of 17 counters.

ESSTC rang the bell on 18 of 27 foul shots, while Paterson came through on only 22 of 45 tosses from the charity line.

East Stroudsburg turned in a double victory when the Normal Hill junior varsity, under the guidance of Coach Ed Shay, rolled over the Paterson yearlings in the preliminary tussle, 51-34.

Pocono Mountains League Announces Refunds

Readers — Every team in the Pocono Mountains Baseball League received a refund of anywhere from $9 to $20, it was announced last night by M. N. Warner, treasurer of the circuit.

The money became available after the 1952 campaign, which was the most successful in the history of the league, John Warnett, circuit secretary, also stated.

Amounts

Warner added that Tobyhanna-Pocono Lake and Ansonia had received virtually $20, because the two clubs had settled all back fines. Other teams received different totals because of debts to the circuit.

All checks have been mailed to the 10 teams in the circuit, Warner added.

"The Pocono Mountains League is now more liquid than at any other time in its history", Warnett stated during a telephone conversation last night.

A limited refund was made in order to have a reserve fund in the treasury.

Harry Janson, Lloyd Brong and Walter Stem formed the auditing committee which recently officially determined the financial condition of the league and its 10 entries.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST

By Hal Sharp

AVOID TINY CLOSED TENTS FOR WINTER

Two-man mountain type tents of nylon like the one above are to be avoided for cold weather use. There is not enough ventilation of fresh air so moisture from breathing condenses within to form ice at below freezing temperatures. Some wartime troops froze to death in these closed tents. Remedy: Replace front with zippered-in netting and a hood for keeping the weather out!

An open front tent with a fire is best if a tent stove isn't used!

Two Contests Listed

Two Biddy Basketball League games are on tap at the Monroe County YMCA today. Line Material meets Stroudsburg Candyland at 4:05 p.m., while Koren's Roofers and Wyckoff-Sears match abilities 40 minutes later.

Barbers Slated To Oppose Two Circuit Foes

Frank's Barbers, East Stroudsburg's representative in the Blue Mountain League, faces the task of bringing its current record up to the 500 mark this week, when the charges of Coach Bruce Possinger take on two circuit foes.

The Barbers are slated to tangle with the Wilson Sportsmen today, on the latter's home court at Liberty Junior High School. The game is slated to get underway at 8 p.m.

Gather

All members of the East Stroudsburg squad are requested to gather in front of George's Recreation, on Crystal St., in time to leave at 6:30 p.m.

Eisenhower's Cabinet

Sinclair Weeks Heads Commerce Department

Department of Commerce building is one of national capital's imposing structures.

(Editor's Note:—This is the eighth of a series of nine articles written for Central Press and the Daily Record.)

By H. D. Crawford

Washington — The Department of Commerce today with its 64,700 employees has as its major function the promotion of the nation's industrial production and the improvement of its domestic and foreign commerce.

Under the jurisdiction of Commerce you find such important agencies as the Bureau of the Census, Civil Aeronautics Administration, Coast and Geodetic Survey, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Inland Waterways Corporation, Federal Maritime Board, Maritime Administration, National Production Authority, Patent Office, Bureau of Public Roads, National Bureau of Standards, and the Weather Bureau.

Gouverneur Morris arose on the floor of the Constitutional convention in 1787 and proposed that the nation should have "a secretary of commerce and finance, whose duties were in part to recommend such things as may in his judgment promote the commercial interests of the United States."

Morris' proposal was not adopted. One hundred sixteen years elapsed before the Department of Commerce and Labor was created in the regime of President Theodore Roosevelt.

That was 50 years ago, on Feb. 24, 1903. Services then consisted of the Bureau of Lighthouses, Steamboat Inspection Service, Bureau of Navigation, Bureau of Standards, Bureau of the Census, Bureau of Fisheries, Bureau of Labor, Bureau of Manufacturers and Bureau of Corporations.

A decade later, on March 4, 1913, Commerce and Labor were separated into different executive departments.

When the $17 million Commerce building was opened in 1932, overlooking Constitution avenue and the Mall, it was the largest office structure in the national capital. Although now dwarfed by the Pentagon and Agriculture's South building, it remains an imposing structure near the Washington monument.

Even more imposing are the numerous functions of today's Commerce.

Procurement Changes Urged By Committee

Harrisburg, CP — Modernizing the Commonwealth's purchasing methods could have 10 million dollars a year, says the Chesterman Committee in its largest single economy report so far.

No breakdown on dollars and cents for specific items was made, however, as the committee urged overhauling the state's buying procedure.

The estimate came in the 17th report by the committee named by Gov. John S. Fine. The six-man group, aided by 160 special investigators, is studying economy and efficiency in the state government.

While recommending wholesale changes, the committee commented, however, that Pennsylvania's procurement activities still compare favorably with those of other states.

Mrs. Albert Brink spent the weekend at the home of her daughter while Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Starnier visited in North Bergen with Mrs. Starnier's brother, Edwin, and also called on Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leighton.

Mrs. George Starnier is spending several days with her sister in Newton, N. J.

Mrs. Francis Mooney was in Philadelphia last week where she attended the funeral of a friend and visited with relatives. She was joined on Friday by her daughter Frances, and on Sunday by her husband.

Mrs. Scharf and Mrs. Mooney, collectors for the polio fund in Scotrun, report they met with generous response. Elsie Besecker and Louise Metzgar, in the Cranberry section and Cherry Lane, also reported success.

Lawmakers Await Governor's Legislative Program Before Adopting Full Work Schedule

Harrisburg, CP — Pennsylvania assemblymen yesterday awaited the administration's legislative program before knocking down to three or four-day-a-week sessions in the state capital.

"We'll continue on a two days a week basis for the time being," said Sen. M. Harvey Taylor (R-Dauphin), president pro tempore of the Senate. The lawmakers return today after a five-day break. The House and Senate Appropriations Committee expect to get started Tuesday on a detailed study of the state's 1.4 million dollar budget.

Sen. Leroy S. Chapman (R-Warren) said there was a possibility of the hearings being thrown open to the public. Chapman said he and Rep. Norman Wood (R-Lancaster) would decide the question when the committees get together.

The half billion dollar appropriation for the Department of Public Instruction was picked as the first budget allocation to get a going over by the joint House-Senate groups.

Taylor said little can be done until administration bills are ready for presentation. These would provide for appropriations to the Commonwealth's huge health and welfare, penal and administrative systems as well as new programs implementing the governor's plans for the State.

Actually, the Senate nearly went into a recess until Feb. 23 last week before such a motion was voted down by a small margin in the Republican caucus.

The House, however, is intent on staying here and getting down to business. Gov. John S. Fine reported that Speaker Charles C. Smith (R-Phila.) is definitely opposed to any recess. And Fine himself announced plans of sticking on the job with no vacation in the near future.

Biggest job facing the 140th session of the Pennsylvania legislature is that of raising additional funds. Gov. Fine places the amount needed at 157 million dollars. That was the figure he gave in his budget message to a joint session of Senate and House last week.

In that address the governor estimated financial needs of the Keystone State for the next two years at 1.4 billion dollars.

Old Company's Lehigh Earns Privilege to Use Famed Good Housekeeping Seal

Lehigh Navigation Coal Company has added one of the most powerful influential tools in retail selling and merchandising — The Good Housekeeping Magazine "Seal of Approval."

The Good Housekeeping Certificate, authorizing the use of the Guaranty and Seal, was granted in connection with all consumer sizes of Old Company's Lehigh premium anthracite. All Old Company dealers will be able to use the Seal in their advertising and promotion.

In use as a product endorsement for more than 40 years, the Good Housekeeping Seal is a consumer's guaranty. The seal bears this legend: "Guaranteed by Good Housekeeping. Replacement or Refund of Money If Not as Advertised Therein." It will be the first hard coal advertisement in a national consumer magazine.

The Guaranty and Seal, was granted on the basis of product merit. After 132 years of customer satisfaction, our product has earned the privilege of the Seal. The Seal's powerful influence was indicated recently by an independent survey conducted for Good Housekeeping which revealed that nearly two-thirds of all women felt they were influenced in their purchases by product endorsement.

A recent consumer survey, made in the primary anthracite market, showed that women do most of the coal buying.
